ABOUT THE RESIDENCY

The Goethe-Institut and Bozar – Centre for Fine Arts Brussels together with Atelier Graphoui, Cinemaximiliaan and Sound Image Culture - SIC start an audiovisual residency programme in 2022 and are looking for four motivated emerging professional filmmakers from the Arab diaspora based in Belgium to meet, exchange ideas and produce individually a short documentary film in Belgium during 2022. Amongst the four chosen residents, two residents will be connected to Cinemaximiliaan and two will be connected to Atelier Graphoui, according to their profile and project. All four residents will have two collective feedback-days with SIC and can take part in its masterclasses.

This audiovisual residency programme is part of the project Halaqat organised by the Goethe-Institut together with Bozar - Centre for Fine Arts Brussels and co-funded by the European Union. Serving as a bridge between both regions, Halaqat offers a contemporary journey into artistic imaginaries shared by the Arab world and Europe and focuses on the diversity and richness of cultural collaborations today to support and strengthen them in the future.

Atelier Graphoui is an audiovisual laboratory open to experimentation and cinematographic research and helps filmmakers and audiovisual artists to develop a peculiar language on the fringes of styles and forms. We support projects offering diverse writing methods, creative human resources, equipment, audiovisual facilities and a production space. We give high priority support to novice audiovisual artists, or projects that, by their experimental essence, have difficulties to find traditional funding. We can host several projects at the same time, which increases the possibilities for exchanges and interactions between authors and projects.

Cinemaximiliaan is a sociocultural and artistic initiative with the aim to create authentic connections between individuals from diverse backgrounds in Brussels and beyond. The project house is located in the heart of Molenbeek and offers space to create short films, host events and share a warm and welcoming home. We also actively reach out to people in refugee reception centres to take part in cultural activities and projects. In this environment new voices get the space to express and to develop their own cinematic sensibilities alongside the help of professionals and film enthusiasts. We provide professional coaching for first time filmmakers from both national and international directors. We believe each person is unique and has a potential that can blossom in a stimulating, appreciative and learning environment. Therefore our film making processes include workshops, castings and masterclasses which are open to anyone who wants to participate.

SoundImageCulture - SIC is a workspace where artists, filmmakers, anthropologists can find support to realize their personal projects. SIC offers a one-year program in Brussels that involves artistic coaching through collective seminars, individual mentoring, group critiques, and inter-artist dialogue. SIC believes in the richness that arises from breaking the boundaries between genres: art/cinema, fiction/documentary, poetry/essay. SIC promotes the idea of thinking by doing, rather than writing in order to do. Discussions start on audio-visual materials and focus on formal and ethical questions during the creative process, with the purpose to develop an original and personal point of view. SIC is not oblivious to an ethical reflection on representation in contemporary media: we believe this to be an urgency of the multicultural society we live in.

THE CONCEPT OF THE RESIDENCY PROGRAMME

The residency aims to focus on the development and realisation of hybrid films (preferably single screen) in an artistic and experimental way with a perspective on the broader context of displacements, spaces and bodies. Animation, documentary, experimental films and audio-visual works are accepted.

The residencies are organised between January and December 2022. The aim is to empower young authors by familiarising them with different techniques and cinematographic languages and to encourage them to develop their own autonomous production process. With the support of the partnering organisations, workshop moments, coaching sessions and masterclasses will be organised based on the specific needs of every project and supplemented with regular encounters between participating artists, coaches and film professionals. Facilities (i.e.: editing cells and audio visual equipment) to process and create the cinematographic materials will be made available between January and December of 2022. Each resident should be independent and has to commit on working on his/her film a minimum of 50 days in 2022. The organisations hosting the residencies will develop a planning with mandatory meetings and coaching sessions together with the artists selected. Applicants should be available at least several working days per month between January and December.

All works realised during the residency (either finished or work in progress) will be presented to the public during a restitution at Bozar - Centre for Fine Arts Brussels. The residency will provide a mentorship programme according to the needs and expectations of the selected artists. The specific trajectory will be tailor made and therefore disclosed after the selection procedure.

Please note that due to the Covid-19 pandemic, this residency programme could be postponed if necessary.
